determine this with as much certainty as it is foretold by counting the buttons on your coat.

Suppose you wish to tell a friend's fortune. First he must mentally select some number in the magic ninety, a number let him place his finger upon one of the numbered disks in the straight shaft. You who are in the secret will immediately know what future is in store for your friend, but he may discover it for himself by turning the wheel as directed. From the disk chosen upon the straight shaft tet him count up or down, as the case may be toward the rim of the circle he will turn the wheel to the left as many disks as fa addition to the ones counted on the shaft will make up the number chosen from the magic ninety. Now turn the wheel in the opposite direction, to the right, as many disks as the full number.
